DEUS[™] 930T Training Belay System "Flexible Kit"

Keep the training experience both realistic AND safe.

NOTE the DEUS 930T is certified for use ONLY with DEUS Training Belay Rope (sold separately).

The new DEUS 930T provides a training-neutral back-up belay that is also easy, safe and automatic. It's the ideal safety line for training with DEUS Vertical Rescue Systems.

This heavy-duty, NFPA-certified system keeps a 12.5 mm DEUS Training Belay rope active at all times, yet completely out of the way. No tug on the back from an improperly attended belay line. But if descent speed exceeds 3 meters per second, the 930T instantly and automatically engages to guard against free fall. The 930T does a "soft engagement" to prevent shock load and injury.

Now you can experiment with and perfect standard operating procedures for bailout, evacuation and rescue with confidence, knowing that back-up belay is automatic and done right. Because rope runs through the 930T reversibly without re-rigging, back-to-back evolutions are fast, easy and foolproof.

The DEUS 930T is a highly flexible system too. Rig to a high anchor to support multiple sequential descents without re-rigging. Rig the system to an anchor on the ground, running the belay line through a high-anchor pulley, if you want to control descent via the free end of the rope.

Purchase a complete flexible-component kit from DEUS Rescue to set up a safe, simple and smooth-running back-up belay system, or purchase just the DEUS 930T and 12.5 mm DEUS Training Belay rope to build your own back-up belay system. (See page 2 for kit components.)
