If your harness is difficult to put on, uncomfortable to wear and doesn't do all you wish it did, look at the NFPA-certified DEUS Quik-Connect. Perfect for use with your DEUS 3100 bailout and rescue system, it may be the only harness you'll ever need.

A Harness on Command

With the DEUS Quik-Connect harness, you only need to wear a belt, quick to put on and comfortable to wear. Then, just rip open the Velcro-sealed front pocket and two leg-loops drop down. Secure the leg loops with the quick-connect buckles and, presto...you're wearing an NFPA-rated Class II harness in less than ten seconds.

Add the available Chest Kit and you have an NFPA-certified Class III rescue harness. No need for a different harness.

Need to rescue someone else? No problem, even if they're unconscious. Just wrap the belt around their waist, release and connect the leg loops and you're done. No need to carry a diaper sling.

The Better All-Around Harness

In addition to the clever, hide-away leg-loops, the DEUS Quik-Connect has extra loops built in, to support firefighter bailout and rescue.

On each side you'll find a positioning D-ring and a haul handle that doubles as an accessory loop. There's also a rear tag-loop and an over-sized bright yellow main tie-off in front, accessible even when the leg loops are stored. All loops are rated to 5,000 lbs.

When lives are on the line, trust DEUS Rescue.
